1. CONFERENCE OVERVIEW

An international meeting for the geology profession

The International Professional Geology Conference (IPGC) brings together professional geologists, geological organisations, industry representatives, researchers, educators, policymakers and other stakeholders from around the world.

The 6th edition of the IPGC will take place in Hammamet, Tunisia, from 15 to 17 October 2027 under the theme “Geosciences: Resources, Risks and Resilience”.

Building on the success of five previous editions, held in Alicante, London, Flagstaff, Vancouver and, most recently, Zaragoza, the 6th IPGC will offer a unique platform to exchange knowledge, strengthen international cooperation and explore the latest scientific, technological and professional advances shaping the future of the geology profession.

Through plenary sessions, parallel scientific sessions and poster sessions, the conference will address the challenges of sustainable development, resource security and societal resilience in a changing world. It will also highlight the essential role of geologists in climate action, the energy transition and the responsible management of resources.

Proudly co-organised by the European Federation of Geologists (EFG) and the Association for Geophysics, Geosciences and Environment (AGGE) - Tunisia, the 6th IPGC will be the first edition held in Africa, opening the conference to the Afro-Mediterranean geoscience community.

The conference will provide a space to exchange knowledge and experience, strengthen professional networks and discuss the evolving role of geologists in addressing the challenges facing society.

From fundamental geosciences, natural hazards and water security to energy transition, critical raw materials, artificial intelligence, and planetary geology, the 6th IPGC will explore how professional geologists can contribute to a more sustainable and resilient future.

Why participate?

The 6th IPGC offers organisations and companies an opportunity to:

- Connect with an international community of geoscience professionals.
- Showcase products, services, projects and innovations.
- Build relationships with potential partners, clients and collaborators.
- Strengthen visibility within the international geology community.
- Exchange knowledge and experience with leading professionals.
- Support the development and recognition of the professional geology community.
- Contribute to discussions on the future role of geologists in society.

A global professional network

The IPGC is designed to strengthen cooperation across borders and disciplines.

By participating as a sponsor or exhibitor, your organisation becomes part of an international platform dedicated to professional geology, knowledge exchange and collaboration.

2. LOCATION & VENUE

Hammamet, Tunisia

The 6th IPGC will be held in Hammamet, Tunisia, one of the country's best-known destinations on the Mediterranean coast.

Hammamet combines an international tourism infrastructure with a rich cultural heritage and provides an attractive setting for professional exchange, networking and social activities.

The location also offers an opportunity to highlight the importance of geology and geoscience across the Mediterranean, Africa and beyond.

Conference venue

The event will be held at the Diar El Medina hotel and conference complex in Hammamet, Tunisia.

The conference venue will provide facilities for plenary sessions, parallel meetings, exhibitions, networking activities and social events.

3. SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Put your organisation in the spotlight

Sponsorship of the 6th IPGC offers a range of opportunities to increase your organisation's visibility before, during and after the conference.

Sponsors will benefit from exposure to an international audience of professional geologists, geological organisations, companies, researchers, educators and other stakeholders.

We offer several sponsorship levels, as well as a range of targeted opportunities that allow organisations to align their support with specific aspects of the conference.

Why sponsor the 6th IPGC?

- International visibility: Reach a diverse audience of geoscience professionals and organisations from different countries and regions.
- Professional networking: Create opportunities to meet potential partners, clients, collaborators and experts.
- Brand recognition: Position your organisation alongside an international event dedicated exclusively to the geology profession.
- Showcase your expertise: Present your organisation, products, services, projects and innovations to a highly relevant audience.
- Support the profession: Demonstrate your commitment to the development, recognition and future of professional geology.
